	warehouse and how to store items in the most efficient way
Job Task Planning and Organizing	Material Handlers receive assignments from supervisors at the beginning of each shift and plan how best to sequence tasks to meet deadlines. They may have to adjust these plans if new loads arrive from suppliers sooner than expected. Most activities are routine and follow established procedures. Some liaison with co-workers is needed to co-ordinate the movement of goods into and out of the warehouse.
Significant Use of Memory	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Remember where numerous items can be found in the warehouse Remember for a short period of time what items were sent out, in order to respond to queries from supervisors Memorize stock numbers and prices of commonly stocked items
Finding Information	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> May refer to customer lists to contact customers May use catalogues, product lists and computer databases to locate information on products, such as stock numbers May consult co-workers, supervisors and suppliers to find out when loads are coming in
Working with Others	Material Handlers often work with a partner, although they may work alone or independently. Partnering is important when moving heavy materials, when trying to load or unload trucks quickly, or when other material handling health and safety considerations demand it.
Continuous Learning	Material Handlers learn on the job. They may receive training in first aid, safe use of material handling equipment, and associated software. Annual health and safety training may be required and is strongly recommended for the reduction in the numbers of workplace injuries.
Additional Information	(Physical Aspects, Attitudes)
Physical Aspects	Material Handlers may need to adapt to multi-temperature work environments. Material Handlers stand and walk to carry out their tasks. They also bend, stoop, kneel and crouch to lift, move and stack objects.
Attitudes	Material Handlers should be well organized, have a positive attitude, be customer service oriented, patient, and industrious.
Future Trends Affecting Essential Skills:	As the focus on safety in the workplace increases, Material Handlers will be required to learn more about safety regulations (e.g. Transport of Dangerous Goods, Hazardous Analysis Critical Care Points, etc.). They may need to upgrade their document use and text reading skills in order to gain sufficient knowledge for obtaining a license for transporting dangerous goods.
